Skim:

Before beginning reading the passage, scan the text and look for vocabulary that is highlighted, footnotes, captions, photographs, pictures, headings, subheadings, dates, numbers, legends

Genre:

Determine the genre of the text. First decide if you believe if the reading passage is going to be non-fiction or non-fiction. After determining fiction or nonfiction, then you need to narrow the type of genre to what type of fiction or non-fiction:

Non-fiction: autobiography, biography, article, encyclopedia, textbook

Fiction: historical fiction, myth, fable, short story, poem, fantasy, science fiction, tall tale

Stop and Jot:

As you are reading, stop reading after a “chunk” of text and write:

I wonder, I think, I predict, I did not realize, this reminds me of, I believe, I was surprised, I think it is important to remember

Summary:

Write a summary at the end of the text.

Non-fiction summary:
